"Tū mlyeya ere, tui xyleñośima."

"Tśustizäꞎ."

"Tətiyətsar hāuki zetsäꞎ kitśoyit... mitāzarmeyahāyən, hāu tā liztoꞎ. Wu zetaä miśeśtma, wēzenki."

"Miśeśtma, hiś?"

"fūsit... pənufa, təti śeśtmaki, təti śora fyreka. tosawəsatsar okorā fūsit!" rātz.

"Ka tā śawo tsau zetaä tāzaretiyayëz ka miśeśtuya, hiś?"

"Təti okorā zäꞎ pyratśmaäki, śeśtśëzki. Pənu wāzen, pətsi wätle, ërotaī miśäsersitre. Īzër tāzarmeyayen, ërotaī fyreka śorayara miets."

"To be able to know," the seer said, "I stand here."

Thus, Zawaram sees you all well.

"You're nice, but listen:"

"Bear in mind!"

"Your shop also has not stopped working, that they leave. So they know the shop hasn't shut.

"It hasn't shut, no?"

"It was, but surely then it did shut, then an angry spirit sang its horrible song."

"That because of you the shop didn't work and didn't close, no?"

"Then I sang my song, but I know after a while here the angry spirit's curse will be at work."
